Challenges said to open new horizons for youth

By LaVARR G. Webb
Universe News Editor

The greatest challenge America has ever faced will be met by the youth of the nation, President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said at the BYU student body assembly Wednesday.

Rockefeller's optimism was apparent in his speech as he enumerated the challenges and problems America faces, but he said "with intelligence, devotion and hard work, we can deal with the problems."

Rockefeller was filling in for President Ford who delivered a message to the president. President Ford expressed his regret at not being able to deliver his scheduled speech and his confidence in the youth of the nation.

He urged Brigham Young University students to live up to the standards of scholarship, morality, and patriotism. As the nation's largest and oldest university prepares for its 100th anniversary, it perpetuates an American tradition.

"I know that you will continue your service to America's future in keeping with the inspired teachings of the Lord Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. I know that you will do this in keeping with the spirit and vision of Brigham Young."

LDS church leaders, Utah Republican candidates for national office and other officials were introduced at the assembly by Pres. Dallin H. Oaks. Student applause was long and loud for those introduced, especially for President Spencer W. Kimball who escorted Rockefeller into the large arena.

Rockefeller called himself a "suspended person"—nominated for the vice presidency of the U.S. but not confirmed—and noted that he is under some restrictions in discussing political issues and questions.

But he told the students he wanted to elaborate on a question asked him by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., in testimony before the Senate Rules Committee last week which dealt with national economic problems.

He said the 400 per cent increase in oil prices by the mainly Arab oil producing nations has caused "perhaps the most major revolutionary change that has taken place without a war in the history of the world."

As a result in the shift of capital toward the oil producers, he said, "The Arabs will end up as the new capitalists of the world."

As evidence, Rockefeller said the Arab nations will have about $800 billion in capital by 1985. That amount will be accumulated at a rate of $65 billion a year, he said, which in effect, is a tax on the rest of the world.

Other natural resource producing countries are following the Arab example, he added.

Rockefeller also cited other causes of economic problems and added that an essential ingredient in fighting it is increased productivity, including food, raw materials, and manufactured products.

Rockefeller talks draws dignitaries

Wednesday's assembly at the Marriott Center drew Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, a number of the regular dignitaries and distinguished guests who gathered for the devotional and forum sessions.

In attendance were several general officers from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, including President Spencer W. Kimball, First Counselor Harold B. Lee, and Second Counselor J. Reuben Clark Jr.

Representatives from three major news networks, ABC, CBS and NBC, in addition to personnel from television stations including KSL, KUTV and KBYU, and radio stations KBYU, KONT, KLTU, KBYU and others, could be seen busily filming, taping and taking notes.

Reporters literally came from all over the United States. News services, Associated Press and United Press International, were represented, and personnel from the Daily Universe, Deseret News, Salt Lake Tribune and Provo Daily Herald were among those present.

Connie Chung, CBS correspondent assigned to cover Rockefeller's staff, mentioned this was the first time Gov. Rockefeller has spoken on assignment from President Ford.

He was among the state and city officials in attendance.

Other dignitaries included J. Willard Marriott, after whom the Marriott Activity Center was named and his wife Alice. BYU officials included Pres. Oaks, who introduced the guests on the stand, Executive Vice-President Ben E. Lewis, Academic Vice-President Robert K. Thomas and J. Elliott Cameron, dean of student life, as well as members of ASBYU.

"He has been keeping his profile on a low level," continued Miss Chung, referring to Rockefeller's self-definition as a "suspended person."

Miss Chung stated there was no real way to determine the favorability of reaction to Rockefeller's speech and presence at BYU. However, there seemed to be a quite favorable attitude which permeated from the audience.

Another quite obvious group of personnel attending the forum were the Security personnel, made up of a combination of White House Security, BYU Security and other BYU officials and personnel.

It isn't often people stand immediately to the right and left of a stage gazing into the audience when someone is speaking. Numbers of security personnel could be seen standing in every portal and by every exit of the Marriott Center.

Whirlwind visit with LDS heads, Y lasts only 3 hours

Nelson A. Rockefeller's visit to Provo was a well-orchestrated whirlwind in which the vice presidential nominee landed, spoke, attended a reception and luncheon, and then took off again for San Francisco, all in the space of a little over three hours.

Somehow surprisingly, a majority of the 75-100 people at the Provo airport were newsmen and security officers with only a smattering of well-wishers in evidence.

Rockefeller was greeted as he bounded down the stairs of the sleek, red and white Grumman Gulfstream jet registered to Lawrence Rockefeller — by three ASBYU officers, Senator Wallace F. Bennett and members of the Provo City Commission.

ASBYU Pres. Reid Robison said that Rockefeller was "touched at Senator Bennett's presence, that he would take time out from his busy schedule to meet him at the airport."

Answering a few scattered shouts of support from local citizens with a broad smile and the flashing of a V sign, Rockefeller entered a late-model bronze and white Continental for the ride to the Marriott Center.

Robison, who accompanied Rockefeller and Senator Bennett to BYU, said they discussed BYU, the missionary program, the fact that the ASBYU president's father works for the agriculture department in Washington, and that because some topics of his BYU address were sensitive, due to the confirmation hearings, he was forced to be general.

Rockefeller's sedan was met at the Marriott Center by LDS

Church President Spencer W. Kimball and BYU President Dallin Oaks.

At a reception immediately following his address to the BYU student body and faculty, Rockefeller ate pastry and drank punch while he warmly responded to introductions of church, school and student officials.

Anxious to accommodate everyone, Rockefeller posed for pictures with Salt Lake City Mayor Jake Garn, Pres. Oaks, ASBYU officers and a number of representatives from the College Republicans, among others.

In response to a question about how he could handle so easily the intense pressure of the Senate confirmation hearings, Rockefeller said: "I used to have town meetings all over the state... and I would get insulted and attacked, and you learn, in an experience like that, something about short fuses."

Following the reception, according to Bruce Olsen, director of University Relations, there was a light luncheon of fruit salad, pumpkin pie and hot roles in 347 ELWC, attended by Rockefeller and President Kimball.

President Kimball presented Rockefeller with a copy of his book, "Faith precedes the Miracle," and the vice presidential nominee responded by saying that faith is exactly what the country needs now.

Rockefeller said he was impressed by the university and the church in brief remarks made during the luncheon. After a curbside farewell from Pres. Oaks, Rockefeller set out for the Provo airport, from where he took off at 1 p.m. for San Francisco and an address to the UPI Editors Conference.

Mrs. Spafford: LDS liberated

LAKE CITY (AP) — President of the Mormon Society took to task any persons who say occupy subservient position in the Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints.

She said she was followed by a Sunday seminary class of the church, Sunday.

Mormon women are not women in the church, she said. "I am a woman in the church, and I am a woman in society," she said.

She said she was followed by a Sunday seminary class of the church, Sunday.

place of women in the Mormon church, who is of the opinion that Mormon women hold a secondary position to that of men in the church; that Mormon women are subservient to men; that they held down in so far as leadership in the work of the church is concerned," Mrs. Spafford said.

"Such opinions arise, undoubtedly, because the church is a theocracy — that is, its government is by the immediate direction of God. God has ordained that men bearing the priesthood shall administer divine law in church affairs; women are not included in the governing role," she said.

But she said women "have enjoyed the great blessing of free agency and have been honored in countless ways within the church."

"President Heber J. Grant

recognized the place of women in the work of the church in these latter days when he said, "Without the wonderful work of the women I realize that the church would have been a failure."

"Paul, the Apostle, speaking in the earlier days, said, 'neither is the man without the woman, neither the church without the man, neither the woman without the man in the Lord," Mrs. Spafford said.

"The church early recognized the importance of suffrage for women. Three months after the organization of the church in 1830, women were given the religious vote. This was at a time when few men and no women had this privilege."

"Mormon women were encouraged to be active in suffrage. It was a Mormon woman, a grandniece of Brigham Young, Sarah Young, who is recorded as being the first woman in the United States to cast a vote."

"Mormon women have always been granted important leadership positions," she said.

Sirica continues interviews for jurors in cover-up trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — District Judge John J. Sirica chipped away Wednesday at hundreds of prospective jurors in an effort to find 12 persons who can be impartial about Watergate.

Jury selection on the second day of the cover-up trial of former Nixon administration aide John Edgar Hoover closely followed the pattern set on Tuesday.

Sirica told prospective jurors the cover-up trial might last three or four months and that the 12 jurors and six alternates would be separated from their families for the entire period.

When the judge asked for a count of those who felt service would be a hardship, 81 persons stood up.

Execs to fill new offices

Approval of the student defender and the chairman of the Organizational Hearings Board will be discussed at the ASBYU Executive Council meeting today.

According to ASBYU Pres. Reid Robison, Roy Jayne will be voted on as student defender, and a chairman for the hearings board will also be chosen.

David Wade, vice president of freshman involvement, will be sworn in at the meeting to be held at 10 a.m. in 388 ELWC.

Also on the agenda, Robison said, will be appropriation of funds for the ASBYU officers' trip to the ACUI Conference in Denver, Oct. 17-19.

Homecoming and Plans for Winterfest will be discussed, and vice presidents will report on problems in their offices.

Students are invited to attend.

Reinecke gets sentence; judge grants suspension

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge gave former California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke an 18-month suspended sentence today for lying to a U.S. Senate committee about an ITT financial pledge to the 1972 Republican National Convention.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker also placed Reinecke under one month of unsupervised probation.

"You were guilty of your own selfish ambition," Parker told Reinecke. "But under the circumstances you have been penalized sufficiently."

Reinecke resigned as California's lieutenant governor at 12:15 p.m. EDT today in letters submitted to his state assembly speaker and president of the California state Senate.

The maximum penalty Parker could have imposed for the one count perjury conviction was five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Vets get increase in schooling funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees agreed Wednesday on a compromise bill to increase school benefits for Vietnam era veterans by 23 per cent.

In addition, the bill would establish a loan program of $600 for each veteran and would extend from 36 to 45 months the time an undergraduate could receive benefits.

The total cost of the compromise bill would be $1.48 billion. The conferees met for the first time Wednesday since a deadlock developed last month and a previous conference agreement was rejected by the House.

Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., who led the House conferees, predicted President Ford would sign the bill although Ford had warned he would veto the earlier conference report — with nearly identical provisions — as being inflationary.

Many veterans returned to school without knowing how much their monthly support check would be.

A single veteran now getting $220 a month would receive $270 monthly under the compromise bill, with the amount effective retroactively to Sept. 1.

A veteran with a wife would have benefits increased from $261 to $321 a month. A veteran with a wife and child would get $366 instead of $298 and would also get $23 instead of $18 for each dependent over the age of two.

According to committee sources, the Ford administration made a last-minute proposal to increase benefits 20 per cent, knock out the loan program and drop the extension of benefits from 36 to 45 months for undergraduates.

Republican Youth to conquer, candidates meet public Rockefeller says

"There is no quick, easy answer to the problems we face," he told the students.

Rockefeller criticized those who favor zero economic growth. He said they are like one who yelled, "Pull up the ladder, mates, I'm on board," while those less fortunate are still struggling.

He criticized the Russian wheat deal which he said helped change the United States from a nation with surplus foods to a dependent nation.

The Russians received $1 billion worth of grain instead of $300 million the U.S. government thought they were getting, said Rockefeller.

"Let's face it, we got taken. It won't happen again," he said. In the face of current economic problems, Rockefeller said there is a fundamental question to be answered. "Can free enterprise, democracy and the American system survive? This is the most fundamental challenge," he said.

However, Rockefeller expressed optimism several times about the nation's ability to meet the challenges. "I'm optimistic. We can do the impossible," he said.

"America still has the pioneer spirit personified by Brigham Young," he said.

"We cannot lose faith in ourselves, our country or our free enterprise system. Don't sell our system short," he said, adding that after 50 years of Communism the Communist countries are turning to the enterprise system for technology and industrial development.

America can't turn her back on developing nations, said Rockefeller, but she can't carry other countries alone. The challenges posed by the third world countries can be met through cooperation and international organizations, he said.

The problems facing the nation are exciting and give a sense of purpose to life, Rockefeller told the students, "They are exciting new horizons. You are a lucky generation to be alive at this time."

Rockefeller was hosted by a luncheon and reception by church and government officials before his scheduled 12:30 p.m. departure.

Pres. Oaks said Rockefeller sat next to President Kimball at the luncheon and the church leader told him about the Home Evening, Relief Society and other programs of the church.

Rockefeller was "very impressed," according to Pres. Oaks.

Pres. Oaks also said Rockefeller asked for copies of the prayers given at beginning and end of the assembly by Elders Boyd K. Packer and Neal A. Maxwell.

Rockefeller flew to Provo from New York in one of his private jets and left the same day for San Francisco to appear before the national UPI Editors Conference.

Republican Youth to conquer, candidates meet public

Republican congressional and Utah County candidates greeted the public at the opening of the Utah County party headquarters Tuesday afternoon.

The headquarters at 250 N. University Ave. will serve as a campaign center for the Republican candidates, according to Claudius Stevenson, Utah County Republican chairman.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies and a tour of the building were part of the opening Tuesday at noon, Stevenson said.

He added that an open house will be held Oct. 10 at 6:30 p.m., to coincide with the BYU homecoming parade.

SAIGON (AP) — Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. Wednesday accused North Vietnam of total disregard of the Vietnam peace agreement signed 20 months ago in Paris and indicated support for South Vietnam's requests for more aid.

Clements made the charge in a statement issued after he had conferred Wednesday with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and other Saigon officials.

The U.S. embassy made Clements' statement public shortly before he flew to Tokyo for the last stop on his tour of Asian countries.

The topics of Clements' talks with Thieu and other high officials were not disclosed, but it appeared certain they discussed U.S. aid cuts in light of the deteriorating military and economic situation of South Vietnam, and the most serious political dissent Thieu is facing in his nearly 10 years in power.

BYU law college to redo proposal

By ERIC JACKSON
Universe Staff Writer

A decision to revise a resolution, offered for a "write-on" Law Review competition was made Wednesday by the BYU Law School co-curricular student-faculty committee in its weekly meeting.

The resolution accompanied a discussion on the committee's projected budget in the group's first meeting of the fall semester. Provisions made by the proposed resolution presented to the committee would have permitted all second-year law students to compete for a position on the Law Review.

The current program, based on the Columbia Law Review competition, allows only students not participating in another program of the college to compete for a position.

The resolution proposed a three-day competition period in which all second-year students interested in competing could submit their articles.

Each student would be required to write a complete, self-contained and annotated comment, following the form used in current legal periodicals, not to exceed five legal size, double-spaced pages in length.

Gerry Williams, chairman of the co-curricular committee explained that the reason for the proposed resolution was because many students were disappointed that they could not participate in more than one program simultaneously.

"We decided to return the resolution to the students because we felt it was not the only alternative to solving the problem," Williams said.

Williams said there were many other avenues open for discussion to improve the program and indicated the committee would again try to resolve the problem at its meeting Tuesday.

The committee discussed its budget and attempted to make projections for next couple of years.

Williams said because a projected budget would be to be finalized in two weeks the item would also appear next week's agenda.

Mass cattle slaughter junked

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. — About 400 ranchers and dairymen herded cattle before a bulldozed trench Wednesday, then junked plans for a mass slaughter after an 11th-hour appeal from the White House.

The stockmen were protesting inflationary costs and low income, a squeeze they said could be best dramatized by shooting some 800 animals, mostly calves, and burying them in a mass grave carved in a pasture at the Jack Beeler Dairy north of here.

A telephone call from a White House aide and an appeal from Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White just before the shooting was to start interrupted the planned slaughter. The cattlemen said they were told they would get a meeting with President Ford.

Revolution yields good medical care

CHICAGO — The socialist revolution in Cuba has resulted in universal high-quality medical care for the Cuban people, says an American physician just back from a month's visit there.

Dr. Quentin Young said health care has had a high priority in Cuba since the revolution in 1959 and is considered a social right, available to everybody free. He said Cubans "have gone a long way toward conquering that which was conquerable."

Young was one of a group of 16 U.S. medical personnel who visited Cuba under sponsorship of the U.S.-Cuban Health Exchange. They plan to report on their trip at a meeting of the American Public Health Association in New Orleans at the end of the month.

Shah of Iran makes visit to India

NEW DELHI, India — The Shah of Iran, whose country's vast oil reserves have endowed him with new importance in an oil-thirsty world, arrived here Wednesday to talk over escalating oil prices that have helped bring the Indian economy to its knees.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government tried hard to impress on the Iranian emperor and Empress Farah Pahlavi India's friendship for its largest supplier of petroleum.

The three-day visit ends an Asian tour for the imperial couple that took them to Singapore, Australia, New Zealand and Indonesia, the Far East's only major oil producing nation.

Small concerts to be increased

The Social Office is planning more inexpensive small concerts in the near future for the students enjoyment, according to Small Concert Chairman, Dan Morgan.

Morgan said after last week's Association concert, the students will respond to more small concerts, because the concerts are cheaper and create a relaxing atmosphere.

The goal of the Small Concert Committee "is to produce great entertainment for a price under $2," Morgan said.

Morgan pointed out that "We (the Social Office) made some money off the Association concert." This shows that the kids are in favor of this type of concert, he added.

The concert scheduled for Oct. 25 still needs finalizing, Morgan said. A new innovation, "comedy concert," is already booked for Nov. 15.

New ideas are needed by the committee to determine who the students want for their concerts. Students can help by taking part in concert polls, Morgan said.

One idea being considered by the Small Concert Committee is a "Mormon rock concert," where various LDS people are booked for a performance and a "concert dance." Tickets are limited to 3,000 for one concert. If there is a sell out, then arrangements will be made for a second show, Morgan said.

The committee is trying to "bring in couple of big names" so that the students will respond to them. When a small name group is booked, the students will hopefully still respond to it, having the faith that the Social Office has booked a great show for them, according to Morgan.

"We hope the kids will have faith in us," Morgan said.

Immigrant's estate
inherited by library

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Public Library has received posthumous "tuition" from a one-time illiterate Lithuanian immigrant who gleaned enough knowledge from its shelves to make $1 million on the stock market.

The library received a $368,000 check from the estate of Martin Radtke. A marble plaque was unveiled Tuesday in his memory in the main library on Manhattan's Fifth Avenue.

"Martin Radtke was typical of his generation in that the library was his university," the library president Richard W. Couper said of the taciturn investor who died in March 1973 and left his entire estate to the library.

Few people at the ceremony knew Radtke, who came here poor and illiterate at the age of 30 in 1913 to work as a gardener in New Jersey. Even after he made his fortune he remained a modest-living bachelor, paying as a guest in a house in Woodside, Queens, and commuting to Manhattan by subway.

He apparently made the public library one of his haunts and in later years told friends he accumulated as much as $1 million on the stock market with the knowledge he acquired from study of economic textbooks and magazines there.

Florida Democrat
snares nomination

By ERIC SHARP
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) - Former Florida Secretary of State Richard Stone has won the nomination of Florida Democrats to seek the Senate seat being vacated by Republican Sen. Edward J. Gurney.

Stone, 45, defeated Rep. Bill Gunter of Orlando for the nomination in Florida's run-off primary Tuesday. With all precincts reporting, the unofficial count was 314,708 votes for Stone and 304,475 for Gunter.

Stone's Republican opponent in November will be Jack Eckerd, a Clearwater millionaire who owns a chain of drugstores.

Also on the ballot will be American party candidate John Grady, a Belle Glade dentist who hopes to draw the vote of those who supported George C. Wallace's presidential campaigns.

House to vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - An embattled proposal to provide expense money for former President Richard M. Nixon, already slashed more than half to $398,000, is headed for House efforts to cut it even more.

Amendments for cuts ranging from another $198,000 to all $398,000 were promised by opponents of President Nixon's control over White House tapes and papers.

Rep. Sidney Yates, D-Ill., said he would try to block removal of the tapes and papers to San Clemente by prohibiting use of any federal funds to move them from Washington.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., said he would try to deny even Nixon's $60,000 a year pension because of the implication of "criminal conduct" in the pardon.

report says

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - The National Center for Disease Control predicts an influenza virus related to the London flu which brought widespread illness two years ago will strike in the United States this winter. The virus is called the Port Chalmers flu because it was first isolated in Port Chalmers, New Zealand.

Dr. Lawrence Corey, acting chief of the center's influenza section, said outbreaks have been reported in Australia, the Far East and South America, indicating the virus will occur in the United States.

Corey said a few isolated cases of the new virus already have been reported in Georgia and Mississippi.

"There is an influenza vaccine for Port Chalmers and we strongly recommend vaccination for persons of all ages who have chronic diseases and older persons, particularly those over 65," said Corey.

Y graduate eulogized at memorial

A memorial tribute was held in Utah Monday for a BYU graduate shot down over Laos in 1968 and officially listed as killed in action this summer.

Captain Robert Alan Rex, who graduated from BYU in 1966 with a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics, has been missing in action since his plane was shot down in December, 1968. He was declared killed in action on Aug. 22, 1974.

The tribute was held under open skies on the family's Bar Triangle Ranch near Randolph, Utah with Hartman Rector, Jr. of the LDS First Council of Seventy as the main speaker.

Following the dedication and benediction, there was a reading of citations and a presentation of awards and medals. The Purple Heart, Air Medal, Air Force Commendation Medal and the Air Force's highest medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross were awarded posthumously to Captain Rex's widow and parents.

As part of the tribute, the U.S. Air Force provided an F-105 jet fly-by with a Missing Man Eulogy and a 21-gun salute. The Air Force also planted a cedar tree, in his memory, on the land on which he had planned to reside someday.

Born on Feb. 17, 1942, Captain Rex was a resident of Randolph, Utah where he graduated from South Rich High School in 1960 prior to his enrollment at BYU. While at BYU he was presented with the Outstanding Senior Student Award in the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences.

He joined the Air Force Reserve in 1960 and married Patricia O'Malley, a 1965 BYU graduate, in the Salt Lake Temple on June 22, 1962.

Captain Robert Alan Rex, a 1966 BYU graduate, was honored posthumously Monday for his service in Vietnam. He was declared killed in action this summer after his plane was shot down in 1968.

In September of 1966, Capt. Rex entered the Officer's Training School at Lackland AFB, in Tx. He received the Outstanding Pilot Award with his Silver Wings upon completion of his pilot and F-105 transition training in February, 1968.

Candidate convicted of contempt

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Libertarian Party congressional candidate Karl J. Bray has been convicted by U.S. District Court Judge Aldon Anderson of contempt of court.

Anderson sent sentencing for Oct. 21, allowing Bray time for appeal, which he said he would do.

As he left the courtroom, Bray told a newsmen he felt "the constitution and the law have been rigged."

Bray was accused of refusing to surrender records of the Rocky Mountain Mint to the Internal Revenue Service.

Anderson had ordered the records produced in court Aug. 20. They weren't.

His attorney argues today there was no evidence to show Bray had the records or even that the records even existed.

Anderson held it was too late for Bray to be making such an argument, and that it would be presumed the records existed.

Bray is a crusader against the IRS and income tax.

Indian conference to review business

By MILTON G. HAYCOCK
Universe Staff Writer

Business and economic developments among Indians in the western hemisphere will be the topic for the International Conference on Indian Development, to be held today at BYU.

The conference, which will be the first of its type on the international level, will be sponsored jointly by the BYU Institute of American Indian Services and Research and Indian Initiative Incorporated.

Seminars and workshops will be held in 347 ELWC from 1:30 to 5 p.m., according to Dr. Dale Tingey, Director of the Institute of American Indian Services and Research at BYU. The conference will reconvene at 6 p.m. for a dinner and program by BYU Indian students.

Dr. Tingey said approximately 150 tribal leaders, businessmen, and agricultural and economic experts from the U.S. and Canada will participate in the seminar.

Milton Weitenmann, assistant to the Governor of Utah, will be one of the featured guests. George Lee, President of Ganado College on the Navajo Reservation in Arizona, will be speaking on economic development for the Indian people, according to Dr. Tingey.

Dr. Tingey said current BYU Indian self-help programs and recommendations in promoting additional economic and business developments on or near reservations are among the topics to be discussed.

John Maestas, Chairman of the BYU Indian Education Department, will report on current programs according to Tingey.

Dr. Lowell Wood, chairman of the board of Indian Initiative Incorporated, said the seminar will bring forth ideas from as many people as possible who have first-hand experience with Indians and make suggestions on implementation of the suggestions.

Participants will discuss actual business possibilities, sources of funding for such projects and obtaining technical assistance for selected projects, according to Dr. Wood.

Dr. Ringey said, "Most of the people that are planning to come to the conference have contributed a great deal of time and money to come. All have a genuine interest in the Indian people."

Israel denounces upswing of terror

TEL AVIV (AP)—The Israeli cabinet met in an extraordinary session Wednesday to deal with a wave of Palestinian-Israeli terror and reprisal that threatens chances for Mideast peace.

Guerrilla war between Israel and the Palestinians has recently flared into a deadly round of raids and revenge that has turned Israel into a fortress and south Lebanon into a partial wasteland.

In a further sharpening of tensions, Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin warned in a talk with students that Israel would attack Arab population centers if the Arab states fired missiles at Israeli towns.

Rabin's warning followed a speech Tuesday by Syrian Defense Minister Maj. Gen. Mustafa Tlass declaring Syria possessed weapons that could hit any point in the Jewish state. Replying to a question, Rabin said, "I believe the only answer to that is to say: If you use them—the missiles—your populous areas will suffer and there is no need to detail how."

Services

held today for 'Y' grad

Funeral services for Abol Hassan Badiat, 27, of 666 E. Center St., NO. 10, Provo, who died Sept. 22 of gunshot wounds, are scheduled today at 4 p.m. in the Provo City Cemetery.

Last respects may be paid to the late BYU student from Tehran, Iran, at Berg Mortuary, Thursday prior to services.

Mr. Badiat was born Nov. 4, 1946, in Iran, a son to Amir Fakhiloh and Abielah Ardalan Badiat. He married Zohreh Afshar on Aug. 27, 1969 in Washington, D.C.

He was a student at BYU, working towards a master's degree in civil engineering. He received a B.S. degree in physics from BYU. He moved to Provo in 1968 and was working part-time for the university at the time of his death.

Survivors included his widow; one son and one daughter, Parham and Jalali Badiat, both of Provo; his parents and two brothers and two sisters, Shapor Badiat, Manchehr S. Badiat, Azar Poran and Pouran Khoread, all of Iran.

Solons ok cutting aid to attackers

By ROBERT HERRICK
Universe Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted again Wednesday to cut off military aid to "any country" using U.S. supplied arms for aggression.

The fund cutoff was added to the $2.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill in language identical to that placed in a continuing money resolution Monday under sponsorship of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo.

Eagleton said his amendment, adopted 50 to 27 Monday and reaffirmed Tuesday, 59 to 29, was aimed at Turkey for its July invasion of Cyprus.

Wednesday foreign aid bill amendment was sponsored by Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D. It was adopted by a 48-34 vote.

Sens. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and John Tower, R-Texas, sought to pin down Abourezk on whether he intended the amendment to apply also to Greece and Israel.

"It applies to any country receiving military arms from the United States," Abourezk replied. "It does not single out any country, nor except any."

Abourezk said the amendment was directed, in fact, at the Ford administration "to assure that it obeys the law."

He said the courts, ultimately, would make the determination on what countries are in violation of foreign aid laws requiring use of U.S. arms for defensive purposes to remain eligible for U.S. military aid.

Political majors open house set

Provo gives BYU OK on Homecoming balloon

By ROBERT HERRICK
Universe Staff Writer

After nearly 100 years, the Provo City Commission has finally sanctioned a hot air balloon on the BYU campus.

But it is only for that area for use by motorcyclists.

The commission rejected that suggestion.

"We are not against motorcyclists, but we're not interested in putting such a place in a residential area."

hazard to area children and a potential fire hazard.

Mayor Russell Grange explained to the citizens present the commission had received a request that the city buy a large piece of land in that area for use by motorcyclists.

The commission rejected that suggestion.

According to the Homecoming Committee, the balloon will be tied so that it floats above the McKay Building while an escape artist dangles by his ankles and tries to free himself from a straightjacket.

If weather permits and the FAA approves the show, the balloon will be released to float to a landing in Provo's Kiwanis Park, two blocks east of campus.

Other items on the commission's agenda included off-road traffic in the hills above the Edgemont area and a new ordinance regarding monuments and markers in the city cemetery.

In discussing the off-road motorcycle and four-wheel drive traffic with Edgemont area residents, the commission pledged to check with forest service and county officials to see who owns the dirt roads, which leads up the hill from the intersection of 650 East and 1425 North, and to secure permission to place a gate across the road.

The commission also assured the residents of police support in their efforts to relieve the situation.

Approximately 15 area residents attended the meeting to request action on the problem, which they said was a noise and dust nuisance, a

Book shortage strikes Russia

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union boasts it is the world's largest publisher yet there is a book shortage that has spawned a flourishing black market for a public hungry for literature.

"Now, as never before, it is difficult to buy a good book although they are issued in bigger numbers than ever before," the Writer's Union newspaper, Literary Gazette, lamented recently.

Moscow's "House of Books" which Russians say is Europe's largest bookstore, has counters on its two floors that would stretch a mile if placed end to end. But clerks there routinely tell customers: "No Tolstoy, no Dostoyevsky, no Pushkin, no Chekov" — all Russian classics that are easier to find in Helsinki, Finland, or Berkeley, Calif., than in Moscow.

Public demand The reason there is a shortage of these classics is that the printings are not big enough to meet public demand. Printings of these and other books are not big enough because the paper industry simply doesn't produce enough.

Of the printing paper available, a huge share goes for ideological and propaganda works that are given priority by the Communist party. There also is what Literary Gazette calls waste.

It recently criticized publishing houses for putting out "fantastically big issues" of unwanted books.

In Tashkent, a publishing house issued 600,000 copies of the novel "The Headless Horseman" by Wayne Reid and most piled up in stores and warehouses unsold, the newspaper said.

Unwanted books

It added that one Moscow publishing house put out 30,000 copies of its own publishing plan for 1973 and nobody wanted them.

"On the same paper, they could have printed Pushkin's children's stories and would have paid for the book," Literary Gazette said.

Authors such as Mikhail Bulgakov and poet Osip Mandelstam who pose ideological problems for Soviet literary czars were issued last year in tiny editions. But there was no public sale in the Soviet Union and they are best purchased in New York, Copenhagen or some other Western cities where a large share of the copies were shipped.

Lobbyist attacks AMA

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized medicine has contributed more than $400,000 to campaigns of 42 House members, most of them supporters of the American Medical Association's health insurance proposal, a lobbying organization has disclosed.

The Health Security Action Council, formed four years ago to support national health insurance legislation, said the 39 Republicans and three Democrats have voted for legislation favored by the American Medical Association and against legislation the council said would reform personal health care services.

In a report released Tuesday, the group said the contributions for 1972 and 1974 campaigns were made by the American Medical Political Action Committee, the political arm of the American Medical Association, and similar organizations.

The report, titled "Your Congressman May be Hazardous to Your Health," is based on information provided by the political action committee, the congressmen and their re-election committees to the clerk of the House of Representatives.

Dr. J. W. Lewis, chairman of the American Medical Political Action Committee, criticized the Health Security Action Council for singling out the 42 congressmen.

"We are currently supporting 200 congressional candidates, about half of whom are sympathetic to our proposal for national health insurance, half of them undecided," he said in a statement.

He said the political action committee would contribute approximately $600,000 to various political campaigns this year.

Home freezers hot item, appliance makers say

By WILLIAM DIMASCIO
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Home freezers are the hottest-selling major appliance in this inflation-wracked year, marketing reports show.

The sales boom is generally attributed to consumers' desires to hedge on rising food costs by buying in quantity. But home economists caution that buying food in bulk is not always the least expensive way to shop.

A study done at Pennsylvania State University showed that the edible portion of a side of beef bought in bulk actually costs 34 cents a pound more than if the same meat were bought separately at supermarket prices.

Records sales Still, savings can be made in money and convenience, and homemakers are snapping up freezers at a record rate.

Guenter Baumgart, president of the National Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, says freezer sales this year are running 26 per cent higher than the record level set in 1973, while appliance buying in general is down 6 per cent this year.

It's concern over higher food prices," Baumgart said. "People think they can save by buying in quantity."

Sales to double?

If the current rate holds, more than 3 million freezers will be sold this year — twice as many as in 1972. Baumgart said this rate of sales growth is unmatched since the post-World War II demand for refrigerators and washing machines.

The association estimates that only one home in three now has a freezer, manufacturers are looking ways to expand production.

A spokesman at Westinghouse Corp. estimated that retail freezer prices increased 25 per cent in the last two years, but said the company was having substantial difficulty meeting retailer demands.

"Inflation gave the freezer business a shot in the arm," he said. "But this is a short-term thing. We're a freezer-type economy."

Millionaire's staff, dog get money, family cut out

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Macomb County industrialist has bequeathed the bulk of his estimated $13-million estate to his nurse, his gardener and his dogs and excluded his relatives.

In his will filed Monday with the Macomb County Probate Court, Sumner D. Lamkins, 82, president and sole owner of the New Haven Foundry, named Lucille Rahmeyer as his beneficiary.

Mrs. Rahmeyer, a registered nurse, served as Lamkins' housekeeper and "confidante" after nursing his mother during her terminal illness 20 years ago and his late wife, who died in 1967.

Lamkins died Sunday at Joseph Hospital where he had been a patient since suffering a heart attack Aug. 1.

His estate will consist of proceeds from the sale of the foundry and a wholly-owned trucking company, W. H. Inc.

WHO IS KODAK?

Eastman Kodak Co., of Rochester, New York is probably the most respected name in photo manufacturing. Because of Kodak's predominant position there are some who try to imitate the giant of the yellow box. Especially in the photofinishing field.

Kodak does not have any retail outlets. Some years back they had some stores called Eastman Kodak stores that sold mostly to professional photographers but several years ago Kodak sold these outlets and presently have no company owned stores or photofinishing outlets.

There are some drivin photofinishing outlets that look as if they might be owned by Kodak but because of a lawsuit brought by Kodak any new outlets of this type must be so built that they don't look like a Kodak owned store. The irony is that these outlets often don't send any of their processing to Kodak. They sell Kodak film but that is usually the only connection.

In our store, we offer color processing primarily from two different labs. The white glove lab in Ogden, owned by Ron Inkley, which offers slide and movie processing of Ektachrome and similar films and the processing of Kodachrome and Ektachrome and other similar print films and the Eastman Kodak processing lab in Palo Alto, California, who do Kodachrome slide movie processing for us. Kodak also does prints from slides and most enlargements over 5x7 in size done through our firm. If requested by the customer we will send any of the films such as Kodachrome, which we usually send to Ogden, to Kodak's Palo Alto lab.

Both the Kodak lab and the White Glove lab have tight quality control procedures that hold the quality variations inevitable in color film processing to a minimum. Ron Inkley, owner of the White Glove lab has just announced an interesting new policy. If you ever get a print you don't want, you will be refunded in cash for it. Even if it isn't the lab's fault. For example, if you get a print of a person and their eyes were shut when the picture was taken or if one of the kids takes 7 pictures in a row of the cat, you don't pay. Just turn in the prints.

Both labs also offer the new borderless prints (not yet available from slides). Most prints made from negatives are now on silk finish paper but both Inkley's and Kodak are among the few labs still offering optional glossy prints from negative film. There really is a difference in quality photofinishing. Give us a try.

Y traffic laws result of study

By TAMERA SMITH
Universe Staff Writer

The last time you received a parking ticket on campus did you wonder just where BYU traffic regulations come from? Although few people may realize it, BYU has a 10-man team which takes care of the awesome task of researching traffic problems and making recommendations to control traffic and parking on campus. The Traffic Committee, which meets periodically to review traffic and parking regulations, makes recommendations for new rules or changes in old rules they feel are necessary, Robert Kelshaw, BYU Security police chief said.

After a recommendation is passed by the committee, it must then be approved by Pres. Oaks, Kelshaw explained. Upon receiving his signature, it is returned to the committee for its final vote.

Families of missing in action cautioned about exploitation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families of seven men missing in action have been cautioned by the State Department to guard against false hopes that some of the men may be alive.

The warning came against the background of what the agency called exploitation of MIA families by a Chicago minister, the Rev. Paul Lindstrom, who claimed he arranged a Mexico City meeting between Communist agents and the mother of a U.S. pilot shot down over Laos.

"This report has already caused a good deal of anxiety and anguish among the families of our missing-in-action personnel," a department statement said Tuesday. "We hope the MIA families will not have their hopes raised falsely by this kind of unsubstantiated reports."

The minister claimed he arranged a meeting last week among Jean Macdonald, an Evanston, Ill., widow, and two men in Mexico who refused to give their names and identified themselves only as Communists.

Mrs. Macdonald said the men showed her a picture of a man identified as her son, and demanded between $25,000 and $500,000 for proof that her son is alive and to start negotiations for his release from captivity in Laos.

UAW discontinues pilot work program

DETROIT (AP) — The four-day week has suffered a setback at a Chrysler Corp. parts depot, the United Auto Workers union says.

Workers at the Tappan, N.Y., depot voted to discontinue the union-negotiated experiment, which began July 15, the UAW said Tuesday.

Their reasons included dissatisfaction with new work practices and rotation of job assignments. Workers complained the 10-hour didn't give the men enough time with their families, said the return of children school restricted work activities.

The 60-day pilot program was expected to have far-reaching implications, the entire auto industry UAW spokesman said.

Ballet group gets honor

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eliot Feld Ballet, which presented a successful premiere season at the Public Theater in the spring, has been named the resident dance company of the New York Shakespeare Festival.

It will have a four-week winter season, to feature Glen Tetley's return to New York to stage "Embrace Tiger and Return to Mountain," which was choreographed for the Ballet Rambert in 1969.

In January the company will go on a three-week tour with the Indianapolis Symphony.

The United States Department of Agriculture has turned out a powder that is 90 per cent protein from alfalfa juice, in a test plant in California.

Problems with births linked to pill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Women who become pregnant while taking birth control pills have a greater chance than other women of bearing children with birth defects, according to a State Health Department study.

The study said synthetic hormones in the pills, as well as in certain pregnancy tests, may cause the birth defects.

The department said further investigation is needed before any firm recommendations can be made about the birth control pills.

However, the department said the so-called "in vivo" pregnancy test should be abandoned. In that test, a physician administers a hormone to a woman to try to cause menstruation. The department said acceptable alternatives are available.

Dr. Dwight Janerich, director of epidemiology and population genetics for the department reported his findings in the Oct. 3 edition of The New England Journal of Medicine.

Burger resting after accident

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has come here to recuperate from injuries suffered when his bicycle was struck by a car last month.

His left arm in a sling because of a shoulder separation, Burger is receiving therapy treatments at Williamsburg Community Hospital every morning.

The chief justice also received five broken ribs and a broken finger when his bicycle was hit near his home in Arlington, Va.

Burger said Arlington police had determined that he was hit by drag racers while cycling at night.

knelt in prayer on the lowest level of the stand, the choral group entered the side staircases, chanting greetings and questions to the prayerful Abraham. Throughout the play, the choral group reflected questions of doubt within Abraham's own mind, as well as the questions mankind asks when confusing situations arise. Gabriel, played by David Monk, was a striking figure dressed entirely in white. He addressed Abraham, counseled with him and then gave the ultimate command asked of no man before - to sacrifice his only son. Again in prayer, Abraham was accosted by Samuel.

BYU student plays solo in Washington concert

By ROBERT MERRILL
Universe Staff Writer

A BYU student played a French horn solo with the Tabernacle Choir in the recent concert given for President Gerald R. Ford and President Spencer W. Kimball at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

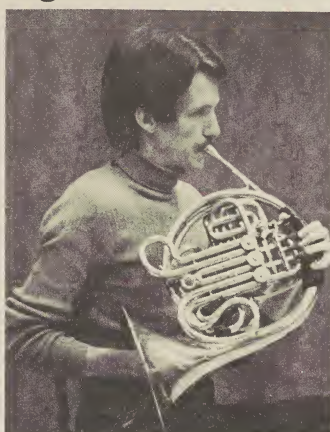

Bruce Woodward, a senior music education major from Provo, played "The Mystic Trumpeter" by Norman Delo Jolo at the concert which was held in conjunction with the Washington Temple completion ceremonies.

Woodward has played the French horn with the Mormon Youth Symphony, BYU Philharmonic Orchestra and recorded with the Utah Symphony. He said Jay Welch, Tabernacle Choir conductor, asked him to perform the solo with the choir.

Woodward was one of five current BYU students who traveled to Washington D.C. with the choir. The other students who went are current members of the Tabernacle Choir.

"President Ford's visit backstage after the concert," according to Woodward, "was a pleasant surprise to everyone in the choir." After meeting the president, Woodward said he feels Ford is very down to earth and cordial.

"The operation of the Secret Service relative to President Ford's attendance at the concert was of special interest to many choir members," commented Woodward. He

Wilt the Stilt leaves pro basketball

By NICK ALLEN
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Last season, Wilt Chamberlain didn't show up to coach at two San Diego Conquistador games.

Now pro basketball's all-time leading scorer says he won't be showing up for any games but may become part owner of the team.

After 14 years playing in the National Basketball Association and one year as a coach in the American Basketball Association, Chamberlain is retiring from the sport he dominated, Dr. Leonard Bloom, owner of the Q's, told a news conference in San Diego Tuesday.

Bloom said that means Chamberlain won't be coaching or playing for the Q's this season and will forego the remaining two years of his three-year, $1.8 million player-coach contract.

Asked if the retirement decision was absolute, Bloom said, Wilt "always wants to reserve the right to change his mind... but for all practical purposes we should conclude Wilt Chamberlain has retired from basketball."

But Chamberlain said in a copyrighted interview in the San Diego Union that he may get part ownership of the Q's, perhaps 25 per cent, because of money he says the Q's still owe him. And he said the reason he missed two games in February was that a payment installment on his contract was way overdue.

"I missed those games last year, because I didn't get paid," he said. "Eventually I may be forced to own a piece of this team."

The 7-foot-2 Chamberlain said he had a one-year 1973-74 contract with the Q's for much more than the widely reported $600,000 plus a two-year option.

Chamberlain was to be player-coach of the Q's after jumping from the NBA Los Angeles Lakers last year, but the Lakers won a court suit that kept him from playing.

Asked about the Chamberlain statements he might soon own part of the team, Bloom said:

"Wilt Chamberlain has been paid in full and he does not own part of the team."

Chamberlain grew up in Philadelphia, went to Overbrook High School, played two years at the University of Kansas and one with the Harlem Globetrotters before joining the NBA.

He played 14 seasons in the league with the Philadelphia Warriors, who later moved to San Francisco, with the Philadelphia 76ers and with the Lakers.

Among his records are a 100-point game, 31,419 career points and 23,942 career rebounds. Despite his scoring prowess and his superb defensive ability, Chamberlain was rapped for his poor free throw shooting, his inability to lead his teams to big victories and for his being a loner and controversial figure.

Russia leads Canada

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander Maltsev scored twice and Alexander Gusiev got the game-winning goal midway in the third period to lead Russia to a 3-2 victory over Team Canada Tuesday night.

The victory gave the Soviet Union the lead in the eight-game series. Russia has won two games, Canada has taken one and two have ended in ties.

Maltsev gave Russia the only first-period goal with a break-away at the 5:34 mark, and Gordie Howe tied it for Canada just 15 seconds into the second period before Maltsev drilled a slap shot past Gerry Cheevers at 15:04 on a power play with Canada's John McKenzie off the ice.

Gusiev made it 3-1 at 11:45 of the third period when he took Valery Kharlamov's rebound off the boards and, from point-blank range, flipped the puck into the upper right hand corner of the net. Mark Howe, who had set up his father's second-period goal, closed the scoring for Canada with 1:50 to play.

N.Y. loses, Orioles take title

MILWAUKEE (AP) — George Scott drove in the winning run with a single up the middle in the 10th inning Tuesday night, giving the Milwaukee Brewers a 3-2 victory over New York and knocking the Yankees out of the race for the American League East title.

The Yankees' loss gave the division crown to the defending champion Baltimore Orioles, who beat Detroit 7-6 Tuesday afternoon. It marks the fifth time Baltimore has taken the AL East title in the six years of division play.

Baltimore now leads second-place New York by two games, with each team having just one game left to play in the regular season.

Clowns keep watchful eyes on LaMar Roche, BYU rodeo star and the recipient of the "round cowboy" award during the last intercollegiate rodeo this semester.

BYU gains top honors intercollegiate rodeo

ABAZANNE PARK
Universe Sports Writer

Just cleared and the 23rd annual BYU Intercollegiate Rodeo came to its conclusion today. After two days of competition, BYU was crowned the national champion, retaining its title as the Rocky Mountain region's top team. The school's activities and increasing popularity led to the regional title at Ricks College, last year.

Eleven colleges and universities from the Utah area, BYU came away with the most total points. LaMar Roche, twice national champion and BYU's star, took first in the "All-around" event of the rodeo.

Winners include Roche, who took first in barrel racing, goat tying and breakaway roping. Pace explained.

Utah Technical College took second place in the rodeo, followed by Ricks College. Ricks took first in women's competition with Utah State second and Idaho State university third. Angie Robinson from ISU was judged the "All-around Cowgirl."

A side-light to the rodeo was the "Wild-Cow Riding" Contest. This was not an actual part of the rodeo competition, explained Pace, but was promoted to encourage entrants from the whole student body.

The contest results indicate that even when the spirit is willing, experience still counts. Two of the winning team captains, Ron Hale and Doug Hoddard were from the Animal Science department, and the third was a representative from the meat department, DeVon Reese.

The queen of the rodeo festivities was 21-year-old Sheila Probst, a senior in business fundamentals from Heber City. Miss Probst, who was selected Miss Congeniality at the national rodeo last year, will represent BYU in the national rodeo queen competition next June.

The Deacons canceled an earlier game with Oregon State. They should have canceled this one. Oklahoma to win... by a gracious 63-0.

Last week's forecasting was more like it... 51 right, 13 wrong and three ties for a .797 percentage, including the three Upset Specials - Baylor over Oklahoma State, Colorado over Wisconsin and Temple over Boston College. For the season it's 144-58-6-713.

Texas surprised Upset Special of the Week: Oklahoma State 34, East Carolina 18; N.C. State has cracked the Top Ten. ECU wants to crack the big time and avenge last year's 57-8 rout.

Orioles top Producer creates Tigers 5-4 PBS sports series in last game

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Way It Was," a 13-week sports nostalgia series, starts tonight on public TV. If you keep track of closing credits on TV, you'll see the new series was "created by Herb Schmetz."

Who's he? The credits don't say, but he is the vice president for public affairs at Mobil Oil Corp., which shelled out $360,000 for the half-hour series, plus the cost of newspaper ads and a press agent.

However, there's no rule against a public TV underwriter creating a show it bankrolls, according to Hartford Gunn Jr., president of the Public Broadcasting Service, which is feeding the series to PBS stations.

Furthermore, Gunn said with a chuckle, "I think he's probably crediting himself with more than he did. Actually, it was an idea I may have cooked up."

"It got suggested to Herb and Herb went out and found a producer in Hollywood... and then they came back to us. We said our rule is that it has to be supervised by one of the stations in the PBS system."

"So we got them together with KCET," he said, referring to the Los Angeles public TV station where the show was put together.

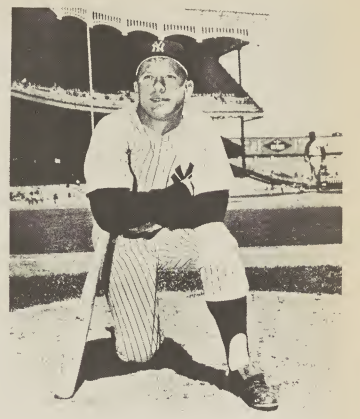

"But there's no prohibition against that. My feeling is that a good idea or concept can come from anywhere. The key to it is who supervises the production, and it was KCET in this case."

He said when Schmetz' name appeared on the closing credits, "we said, 'Oh, that's probably going to raise some eyebrows.' But on the other hand, it's fair."

The game marked the end of the 22-season career for the Tigers' great Al Kaline. He batted twice as Detroit's designated hitter, taking a third strike in the first inning and lining out to left in the third.

The crowd hooded lustily in the fifth when Manager Ralph Houk put Ben Oglivie in the lineup in place of Kaline.

Baltimore starter Mike Cuellar finished the season with a 23-10 record.

Hall of Fame slugger Mickey Mantle will guest star on the PBS production "The Way It Was," a nostalgic look at sports in the yesteryears.

Cross country runners sweep track records

The BYU cross country team swept aside several records in winning the University of Nevada Invitational Meet in Las Vegas last Saturday.

Competing against 10 other schools, the Cougars knocked five minutes off the old meet record and shaved 15 seconds off the course record.

Cross country coach, Sherald James, credited team effort for the outstanding performance and added, "This is the best team we've ever had and most of them are freshmen."

The Cougars won four races of the seven at the meet. Leon Hanson won the first race of the day in a time of 20:11. Steve Jensen won the second race for the Cougars and Dave Johnson and Stig Husby followed up with victories in the third and fourth races.

The best time of the day for the Cougars was from Benton Hart, a freshman from Modesto, Calif., who ran the four mile course in 19:04.8. Current NCAA champion mile runner Cummings ran in the top seeded seventh race and placed third with a time of 19:50.

Coug coach James said Cummings "is running better than he has in his whole life." Concerning the WAC season to come Coach James sees the UTEP Miners as the team to beat. "Texas-El Paso is the team to beat without question. After that it would be any of several teams," reported James.

Pele ends 18 seasons of soccer

SANTOS, Brazil (AP) — The "King" is retiring.

Pele played his final soccer game Wednesday on the same field where he started his remarkable career 18 years ago.

Heralded as the greatest of soccer players, Pele wants to be known by his real name, Edson Arantes do Nascimento, a successful and wealthy industrialist.

Admitting it will be hard to adjust to life out of the limelight, Pele said there will be some advantages.

"For one thing, I think that now I'll be able to take my family to the beach. It's been years since I've done that."

Scoring more than 1,000 goals, Pele led Brazil to three world championships, the first in 1958 when he was 17 years old. Brazil also won the title in 1962 and 1970. Pele was injured in 1966 and England won the cup that year. Pele did not play on Brazil's 1974 team.

Pele has been one of the most popular athletes in the world. Official in Seville, Spain, once canceled the bullfights so fans could watch Pele on television.

The Brazilian government, once fearful that a European team was preparing to usurp Pele's contract, declared the soccer star a national monument and thus ineligible to be removed from the country.

Almost 34, Pele actually ended his professional career last year. Since then, he has donated his salary to charities.

Robinson to coach Indians; announcement due Thursday

Pittsburgh takes lead over Cards

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Robertson's two-run homer in the eighth inning gave the Pirates a dramatic 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night and a one-game lead in the National League East race.

Pittsburgh's victory, coupled with St. Louis' 3-2 defeat earlier at Montreal, clinched at least a tie for the Pirates. The Pirates and Cardinals each have one game to play in the regular season.

Pirate starter Jerry Reuss led a 3-2 lead into the seventh when Steve Swisher singled and took second on a walk by Billy Grabarkewitz.

Billy Williams then clouted a two-run homer to give the Cubs a 4-3 lead.

Pittsburgh rallied for a run in its half of the seventh.

The seventh-inning eruption off Reuss came after the game was delayed 40 minutes by rain in the Pirates' half of the sixth.

The Cleveland Indians are expected to name Robinson as a replacement for the fired Ken Aspromonte, who was fired late in the 1974 campaign. "I didn't coach this job and I haven't heard that I'm going to be the manager," insisted Robinson Tuesday. "But certainly I hope I will. I want to be a big league manager."

"It isn't just becoming the first black. I want the job. I want to manage."

Robinson's appointment will come 27 years after Jackie Robinson became the first black ballplayer. Since then, many black men, including Robinson Tuesday, have been mentioned for a managerial post but, somehow, none of them were ever hired.

"If it's true, it's fantastic," said former Dodger star Maury Wills, another of those mentioned frequently as a possible manager. "But I won't believe it till I see it."

"My heart is still thumping," said Braves' home run king Hank Aaron, after hearing the news in Atlanta. "I think I'll go out and celebrate."

The Indians picked up Robinson and his estimated $180,000-a-year salary from the California Angels in September. He has been used mostly as a designated hitter and will probably continue as a player-manager next season. Lou Boudreau of Cleveland and then Boston was the last player-manager almost 20 years ago.

The Indians also hold the distinction of having the black player in the American League outfielder Doby, who had a career that late in the 1947 campaign. Ironically, Doby, who had been coach in 1946, was released when Robinson assumed command.

Robinson, the only named Most Valuable Player in both leagues, began his league career with the Cleveland Indians in 1946. He won the League MVP with the Indians in 1961 and five years later in the American League. Baltimore when he led the triple crown with 40 runs, 122 runs batted in, 316 average.

He was traded to Los Angeles in 1972 and California last year.

He carried a .298 batting average into the current season, having hit 20 home runs, placing him on the all-time list in the American League. Aaron, Babe Ruth and Mays.

Aspromonte, who managed this year, handled the club's final late night game, finishing up in Boston. He had a record of 1-1 about the Rob's decisions.

"I don't know any said Aspromonte, 'I tell me a thing. I'm a Cleveland, pack up my home and then go to Silver Spring, Md.'"
